TAMPICO IS UNDER FIRE

FIGHTING HAS CONTINUED THERE SINCE YESTERDAY WITH THE REBELS MAKING HEADWAY

FOREIGNERS SAFE

American Man-of-War Afford Protection and Neutral Zone is Established for Outsiders

By Associated Press.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Official reports from Rear Admiral Fletcher to the Navy Department today said the constitutionalists are making progress in their attack on Tampico and that Americans and all other foreigners have ben removed to a neutral zone, under protection of American guns.

Thus far, no foreigners have been injured. The dispatches say the non-combatants have been concentrated near the water front where they are under the protection of the guns of the scout cruiser Chester and the gunboats Wheeling and Tacoma. The battleships Rhode Island and Michigan are farther out.

The fighting has continued since yesterday, and from the harbor American naval officers have observed that strategically the constitutionalists seem to have the better position and are making headway. A request of the constitutionalist general that Americans leave was acted upon at once. Some Americans and Englishmen were taken aboard ships while others were taken to a neutral territory near the water.

The American officers in their report indicate that foreigners probably will be safe in the neutral zone, but if not will be taken board the American war vessel.

MEXICO CITY DISPATCH SAYS REBELS REPULSE

By Associated Press.

Mexico City, Dec. 11.—The federal war department claims today to have received information that the rebels retired out of the range of the federal guns at Tampico after making several fruitless attempts to capture a part of the city, but believes that rebel attacks will be resumed today. The federal capital is without any accurate information as to events occurring at Tampico.

Later, unofficial advices received here state that heavy fighting has occurred at Tampico. The rebels at one time forced the federal troops back into the heart of the city. The rebels were said to be in possession of the suburb of Dona Cecilia, between Tampico and the coast, which contains many oil tanks and a refinery.

They also have taken Arbol Grande, another suburb. The war department, advices, however, continue to indicate that the government troops are successfully resisting.

FEDERALS ARE BUILDING DEFENSES AT PRESIDIO

By Associated Press.

Presidio, Texas, Dec. 11.—Transfer of civilian refugees across the river into the United States territory and building of defenses in anticipation of rebel attack at Ojinaga, today proceeded actively.

Luis Terrazas, who owns millions of acres of Mexican land and who is one of the richest men in the Republic today safely crossed the river with his family and went to Marfa. He practically had been held prisoner at Chihuahua and it was not not until the whole federal garrison accompanied him that he was able to leave the country in safety. It is said his cattle served to feed both the federals and rebels in this and the Madero revolution.

RELEASE NORRIS ON $250 BOND

STATE REFUSES TO INTRODUCE ANY EVIDENCE AT HABEAS CORPUS HEARING

WILL AWAIT GRAND JURY

Defendant's Attorneys Sue Out Writ After Justice of Peace Fixes Bond at $2000

By Associated Press.

Fort Worth, Texas, Dec. 11.—The State refused to introduce any evidence at the Rev. J. Frank Norris habeas corpus hearing this afternoon and District Judge Brown released the defendant on two $250 bonds to answer charges of arson before the grand jury.

The defendant's attorneys last night sued out a writ of habeas corpus before District Judge Brown and had the defendant released on his recognizance after Justice of the Peace T. J. Maben had bound him over to the grand jury in the sum of $2,000 to await the action of that body on two charges of arson.

The tedious examining trial, which had been in progress before Justice Maben since last Monday ended at 6 o'clock yesterday evening when the argument closed. The justice of the peace, in accordance with the contention of the State, ordered the defendant held to the grand jury. In less than ten minutes thereafter an application for writ of habeas corpus which had been prepared in advance, was presented to Judge Brown of the Sixty-seventh district court by Judge Tom Simmons of counsel for defense. Judge Brown had been previously requested to remain at the court house and was found waiting in his office. He turned on the lights in his court room and ordered that the writ be issued and his instructions were carried out as soon as Chief Deputy District Clerk Marshal Vowell could be called from his home. Constable Nace Mann, who was custodian of the defendant, had the writ served on him in the court room, and as soon as the proper returns had been made, Judge Brown, over the protests of the State's counsel, Messrs. McLean and Baskin, released Dr. Norris on his own recognizance for his appearance at 2 o'clock this afternoon, which was the hour set for the hearing. Thus in a few minutes the judgment of the justice of the peace had been set aside and although ordered held under $2,000 bond Dr. Norris was allowed to go without bail.

When William McLean Jr., protested and asked to be heard on certain law points Judge Brown interrupted him by saying, "You know very well this man never would run away."

To which Mr. McLean replied, "No, Sneed never would have run away either, but he was remanded time after time. Is it the judgment of the court that the only question involved is whether a man would run away?"

Judge Brown was leaving the bench when the last words were said.

HANS SCHMIDT REFUSES TO RECOGNIZE FATHER

Latter Comes From Germany To Attend Trial—Defendant Is Unmoved at Meeting

By Associated Press.

New York, Dec. 11.—The aged father of Hans Schmidt, who came from Germany to help his son, now on trial for the murder of Anna Aumuller, wept in the court orom today when Hans ignored his presence. When the elder Schmidt called at the Tombs, the prisoner would not receive him. Hans said, however, he would like to talk with his sister who accompanied their father from the family home in Germany.

In the court room after gazing at his son a few minutes, the old man walked out with tears rolling down his cheeks.

Contend He Is Insane.

Witnesses who knew Anna Aumuller and others who found portions of her body after Hans Schmidt had cut it up and cast it into the Hudson River testified for the State at the trial of Schmidt for murder. Through all their testimony the former priest sat as if he were a disinterested spectator instead of defendant. His attorneys seized on every point that would support their contention that he is insane.

On a table before Schmidt lay the saw and knife with which he had dissected Anna Aumuller's body, nearby were the stained pillow slips in which he had wrapped a portion of it before he dropped it into the river from a ferry boat, and stones with which he had weighted it.

To these exhibits for the State he paid no attention. He was unmoved when a stenographer read the confession he made to the police, and when a physician told minutely of the manner in which the victim's body had been dissected.

His Promise To Marry.

The only expression of interest manifested by him was shown when Anna Hert, a friend of the girl Schmidt is charged with slaying, said

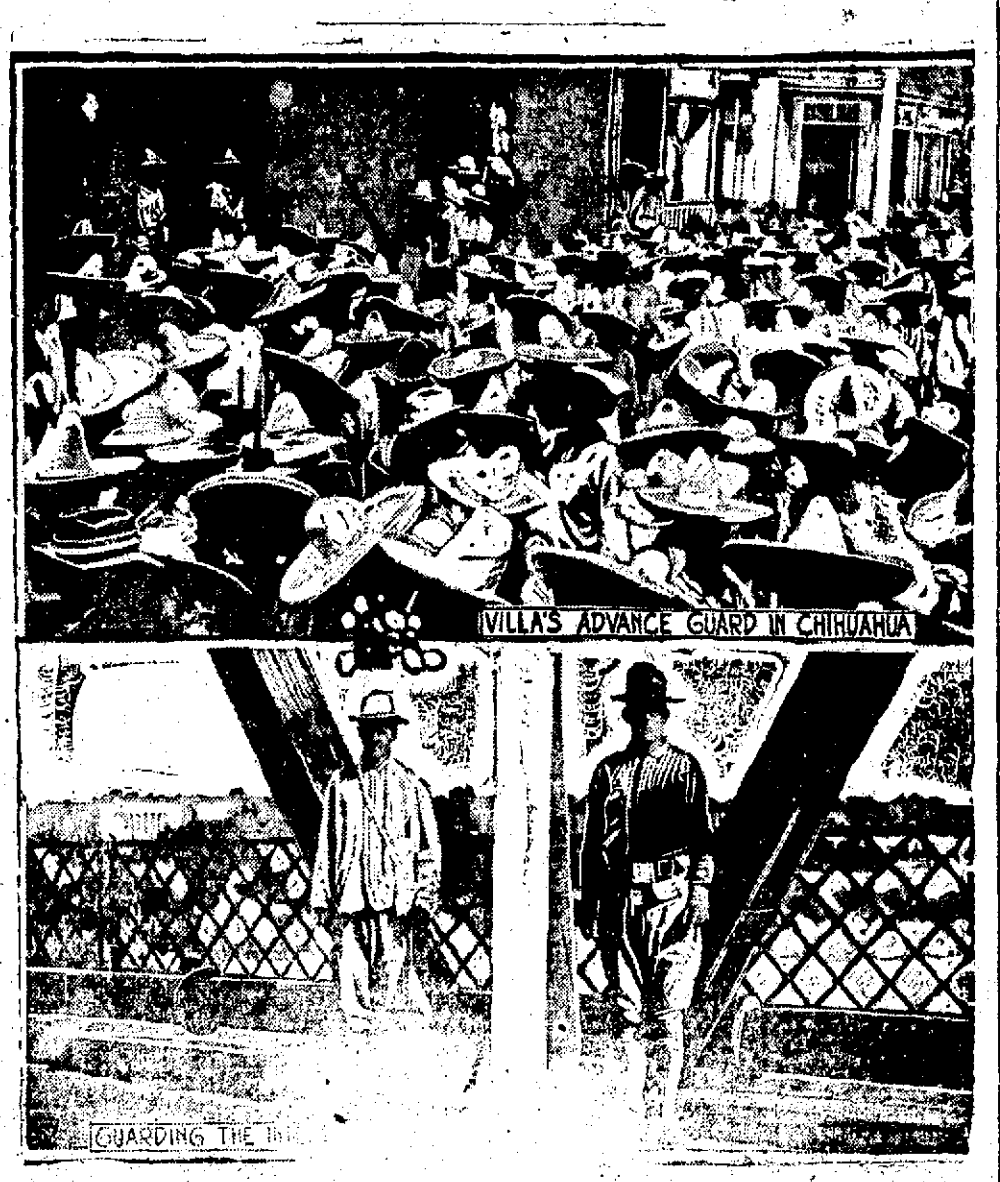
LATEST SCENES IN THE MEXICAN REVOLUTION CAUGHT BY CAMERA



Chihuahua, Dec. 11.—General Villa's troops, now in control of this city and the surrounding territory, will soon move on toward Mexico City, where the deciding battle of the present revolution will occur. The illustration shows victorious rebel soldiers in the streets of Chihuahua and a United States and a Mexican rebel sentry at the international bridge connecting El Paso, Texas, with Juarez. This is one of the bridges across the Rio Grande, used by Mexican refugees seeking the protection of the United States.

GIRLS AND BOYS NOT SPARED IN DEMAND FOR FIGHTERS IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Dec. 11.—President Hureta, reduced to desperate straits for recruits for his army, has had to impress young lads into service, many of them barely strong enough to lift a rifle to their shoulders. In the photo are shown two brothers, ten and sixteen years old, who are members of one of Huerta's squads of "raw recruits." The girl in the picture is in Villa's rebel army. She is a sentry, guarding a railroad train captured by the rebels.

PRESIDENT HAS RELAPSE; STAYS IN HIS BEDROOM

Cancels all Engagements and Fights La Grippe—Intends to Remain in Bed

By Associated Press.

Washington, Dec. 11.—President Wilson stayed in his room today, fighting a cold and canceled all his engagements. The president was to have been presented by the British ambassador here with a copy of an address delivered in England and he also had several engagements with congressmen.

The president's indisposition really began a week ago starting with a cold. He improved by remaining in bed several days last week, but in the last day or two he took more cold which affected his voice. He now intends to remain in bed until he gets rid of the cold.

The would-be assassin was a Dutch store keeper and was supposed to have been actuated by revenge for the loss of a recent suit against the mining group with which Sir Lionel is connected.

YOUNG BRIDE WHOSE ASSAILANT IS HELD IN $20,000 BAIL

Newark, N. J., Dec. 11.—Following the charge made by Mrs. Marjorie Graff, a bride of less than a week, that she was poisoned in the Lyric theater, Newark, N. J., by a man who stuck some sort of needle probably a hypodermic syringe, in her arm, two similar cases have ben reported to the police of Newark and New York. Armand Mexaro, a young South American, was arraigned before Police Judge Hahn on a charge of assault, with complications similar to those in six other cases in recent months which have caused New Jersey police to suspect the activity of white slavers. Megaro was held in $20,000 bail pending the action of the grand jury. Mrs. Graff, a pretty, intelligent, cultured woman of about twenty-two or twenty-three, told a clear, straightforward story. While in the theatre, a combination vaudeville and moving picture house, she felt a needle prick, next experienced a sensation of numbness, was just able to get to a retiring room and then collapsed. A doctor said she had all the symptoms of poisoning. Megaro had been her neighbor in the box. On the floor near where he had been sitting a long, rather odd appearing darning needle was found after his arrest. There were discolorations on this which might have ben made by poison.

RESERVE SYSTEM IN ARMY FAVORED

SURGEON GENERAL BLUE ADDRESSES LIFE INSURANCE PRESIDENTS TODAY

NO ARMY POST CHANGES

Expensive Economy Is Retarding Health Work In Too Many American Cities, He Says

By Associated Press.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Secretary Garrison's first annual report to the president, as head of the war department, makes no recommendations for the generally expected re-arrangement of army posts to distribute troops in mobile units. The secretary says that other things of immediate importance, "particularly an adequate supply of field artillery" will postpone his recommendations to Congress, but in the meantime for mobilization as is possible.

Mr. Garrison discusses the militia at some length. He says in part:

"The national importance of a reserve system for the organized militia can not be questioned. The minimum strength at which militia organizations are maintained in time of peace will render necessary a great and immediate increase in a national emergency and this fact demands the presence of a system of reserves from which trained men may be secured for this increase. Without some such system, not only will such increase be rendered exceedingly difficult, but even when accomplished the efficiency of the organizations will have been reduced to a minimum by the introduction of an untrained element double in number the trained personnel.

Enlistment Contracts.

"I found from a personal trip to most of the army posts and from interviewing as many of the officers and men as I could that the men were dissatisfied with the present enlistment contract. It does not seem worth while to discuss whether their dissatisfaction is well founded or not since it exists and if we are to build up a reserve we must devise some method of doing so. That we must build up a reserve seems to be the consensus of opinion and I understand that Congress is favorable to a reserve. One trouble with the present law undoubtedly is that it does not offer as great financial inducement to the man who enlists so as to pass into the reserve as it does to the one who does not so enlist, particularly during the first six years of his service.

"From the most careful consideration that I have been able to give this subject I have reached the conclusion that we will be able to get a reserve, if one is obtainable at all, by a provision of law that will permit the department when it is satisfied as to the proficiency of the soldier to honorably discharge him with no other obligation on his part, as far as the balance of his enlistment is concerned, except to return to the colors in case of actual war."

The Mexican border patrol the secretary discusses at some length:

"At the date of the last annual report there were on duty in connection with the patrol of the Mexican border approximately 6,754 officers and enlisted men. The present strength is about the same, but largely composed of different organizations.

Patrol of Mexican Border.

"An extensive patrol has been continuously maintained by these troops from the Gulf of Mexico to Sasabe, 30 miles west of Nogales, Ariz., a distance, following the windings of the frontier, of some 1,600 miles. Throughout this stretch of territory our troops have protected the border from incursions by individuals or small raiding parties from Mexico, have been continually on the alert to prevent violations of the neutrality laws, and have acted in conjunction with the civil authorities to prevent illegal importations of arms and ammunition into Mexico in violation of the president's proclamation of March 14, 1912.

"The duty of our troops at border towns during the conflicts between the two contending Mexican factions was of a most trying nature and the conduct of the troops under the circumstances and the exercise of good judgment and self-restraint on the part of commanding officers are highly creditable."

TWO JUSTICES OF SUPREME COURT ARE ILL TODAY.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Chief Justice White is confined to his home today with a cold. Justice Lurton is also absent from the court, suffering from a cold. Neither is seriously ill.

TWO RIVERS ARE JOINED

BRAZOS AND COLORADO FLOW TOGETHER AT POINT NEAR GULF TODAY

FORMS NEW CANAL

Work of Rescue Progresses Satisfactorily, and No Additional Deaths are Peported Today

By Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, Dec. 11.—Breaking across low country at a point below Bay City the water of the Brazos and the Colorado Rivers were joined today several miles from the Gulf. At the point of junction the newly formed canal made by the rivers is thirty-six miles long from east to west and is rapidly widening north and south, but it is hardly expected to extend to the Gulf of Mexico.

At Rosenburg, the water has receded, having dropped at noon seventeen inches since daylight. United States life savers out of Galveston continue to go through the lower waters, and this morning two boats which were out all night, brought sixty-six refugees to Rosenberg. Some of these were taken from houses, some from trees and one party of twenty-six negroes, mostly children, were rescued from a corn crib on which they had been perched since Monday morning without food.

Many of these refugees were exhausted and prompt medical attention was necessary to save their lives. At noon 450 refugees were being cared for at Rosenberg and boats were steadily adding to the total. The crest of the Brazos flood is nearing Columbia and the dispatches from there are a repetition of what has gone before.

Relief work continued to be pushed at Houston and elsewhere. No additional deaths had been reported up to noon today. The whole lower river region was combed by life savers in well equipped boats.

A special train was rushed out of here at one o'clock for Arcola to remove three hundred refugees here, as encroaching waters threaten to engulf the box-cars housing them. That point is on the Columbia tap, nineteen miles southwest of Houston.

NEW HAVEN STOCKS AT NEW LAW LEVEL TODAY

Passing of Dividend Yesterday Causes Them to Reach Sixty-Eight, With Much Excited Trading

By Associated Press.

New York, Dec. 11.—Stocks of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad broke to sixty-eight, its lowest price on record at the opening of the stock market today. Passing of the dividend yesterday caused excited trading and on a block of 500 shares the price fell four and three quarter points. It then recovered to 69½.

A crowd of brokers clustered about the New Haven trading post on the floor of the Exchange long before the opening. When the opening gong sounded the rush to sell resulted in such confusion that it was several minutes before any record could be obtained of the first transactions.

CONDEMNED MAN BLAMES DRINK FOR HIS DOWNFALL.

Auburn, N. Y., Dec. 11.—Before he took his place in the death chair here to explate the murder of Frank Ford, a Rochester patrolman, last year, N. Sharp gave out a statment in which he declared he had served in the army and navy and would meet death like a soldier, that it was time he paid for his follies and that if by giving up his own life he could restore that of Ford he willingly would do it. He said no one was to blame for the tragedy—only drink.

Sharp started trouble in his boarding house while he was in a raving condition and when Ford went to restore order he was shot.

In Anticipation.

I'll make a feast of joy tonight,
And gladly will my friends invite
To meet Good Cheer and Appetite.

Not a grand table laid by Art,
Nor viands sought in foreign mart;
Home shall supply in every part.

Happy selection of the guest
Makes plain fare equal to the best;
And this shall guide me in my quest.

Nor to the palate be confined;
There will be finer food, designed
To stimulate the heart and mind.

Let wit and humor have full play,
And kindly jest to make us gay,
And even wisdom have her say.

And harmless satire, giving zest—
Though points, may prick, no wounds confessed—
As salt, will savor all the rest.

New thoughts from each new thoughts incite;
And, ere the guests have said good night,
Heart unto heart has given delight.

Tomorrow, I will live it o'er,
And feel I've had one joy the more,
New riches added to my store.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Dec. 11, 1913

Older residents will recall that every year that a bumper crop of wheat, oats, cotton and corn has been produced in this section of state the rainfall in the preceding fall of the year was unusual and exceedingly heavy, usually followed by spring floods. With more than ten inches of rain during November and up to this date in December Wichita and the surrounding counties ought to be thoroughly soaked, and the farmers can with reason expect splendid crops next year, and in that event this country will prosper as never before.

The Times forwarded to the Mayor of Waco at noon today a draft for $41 to be used as he saw best for the relief of the flood sufferers in that section of state. This money was voluntarily subscribed by citizens and organizations of the city who do not want their names used. One dollar of the amount being the donation of two little school girls who modestly declined to give their names when asked. One reason for the people not responding more liberally is probably from the fact the flooded district is in the richest part of the state, and the land owners for the most part, being wealthy in their own right, have hesitated to appeal for aid for the sufferers, preferring rather to render all necessary relief to those in need themselves. This is the right spirit in which all communities should meet such conditions, and it speaks well for the more wealthy residents in the flooded district. If the distress and property damage is found to be greater than they can take care of themselves, they will then, in all probability ask for outside assistance.

While Wichitans are doing their Christmas shopping they should not forget a contribution to the Salvation Army's Christmas fund. Captain Robb will make good use of every cent contributed. There is no man in Wichita Falls who is in such close and sympathetic touch with the needy or who understands their needs better. Long experience in this work, several years of which have been in Wichita Falls has given him and his estiamble wife an insight into the situation that eminently fits them to handle the Christmas fund. Anyone who has attended one of the Christmas tree gift distributions of the Salvation Army in Wichita Falls knows what genuine joy it brings to children who otherwise might not know Santa Claus. The unrestrained joy of these children grips the heart and will cause the spectator to feel more of the Christmas spirit than anything else. Indeed the Times is sorry that there is not a large audotorium in Wichita Falls in which this gift distribution might be held so that all citizens could attend. But anyway it will do both yourself and others good to give a contribution.

MOOSE MASQUERADE BALL IS LARGELY ATTENDED

Over Fifty Dollars Secured for Christmas Cheer Which This Lodge Will Dispense

The masquerade charity ball given at the Moose Hall last night was largely attended and over fifty dollars was cleared to be used for Christmas charity purposes. It is proposed to have a Christmas tree for the poor children of the town Christmas day at 2 o'clock at the Moose Hall. There will be presents for the children and fruits and candies in great abundance. Mr. McKeen also states that baskets will be distributed to the worthy poor families of the city.

The floor with the merry masqueraders in various disguise as Indians, fairies, Indian maidens, cowboys and cowgirls, nuns, priests, dukes, princes and many other characters made quite an interesting spectacle. The costumes for the occasion were rented from the Haneson Costuming Company and a variety of handsome ones were on display. A. C. McKeen as king and Miss McKeen as Joan of Arc led the grand march. Music was furnished by the Moose orchestra and the dancing continued until 2 a. m. Christmas Eve the Moose will give "Ye Hard Times" Ball and a kangaroo court will be held and any one wearing a white shirt, collar or cuffs will be fined.

At a former ball this lodge raised a substantial sum for its Christmas charities and last night's addition assures that many needy ones will be provided for at Christmas.

BRIBERY OF WITNESS BY SALOON MAN IS ALLEGED

O. D. Worsham, proprietor of the Stag Bar, was arrested late yesterday on a warrant on a grand jury indictment charging him with the bribery of a witness. He was placed under $2500 bond which was furnished by several prominent liquor dealers of the city.

Several weeks ago County Attorney F. R. Boone instituted proceedings against Worsham for the forfeiture of his bond charging the sale of a liquor to a minor. This charge grew out of the alleged sale of liquor to a boy said to be only seventeen years old.

The boy was arrested by a city policeman and placed in jail when he was found in an intoxicated condition on the city streets. It is charged that Worsham "ran the witness off."

MOOSE LODGE OFFICIALS ARE UNDER INDICTMENT

Grand Jury Returns Bills on Two Charges in Connection With Alleged Sale of Liquor

E. F. Brooks, formerly stewart of the Moose Club and A. C. McKeen, dictator of the Moose Lodge in this city were each indicted on two charges, one charging the sale of liquor without a license and the other charging the selling of liquor and permitting same to be drunk on premises where sold.

The indictments were returned by the grand jury yesterday before it recessed until January 6th. Warrants were served on both the defendants this morning their bond for each case being placed at $1,000. They promptly made bond.

Investigation of the case was started last week when charges were filed against both of the defendants Brooks, it is understood resigned his position as stewart several weeks ago.

COTTON STATISTICS TO BE PLACED IN POSTOFFICES.

The Times has received the following from the Department of Commerce at Washington:

"The arrangements made by Hon Wm. J. Harris, director of the census for the wider distribution of statistics collected by his office concerning the quantity of cotton ginned, the quantity of cotton consumed monthly and the stocks of cotton on hand at the end of each month, has met with general approval throughout the cotton growing states.

"He has received numerous suggestions concerning a still wider distribution of these statistics and he has made arrangements with the postmaster general to allow the postmaster in every postoffice in counties where cotton is grown to post in a conspicuous place copies of the reports containing statistics of cotton. These copies will be printed on extra large cards, so the figures can be easily read. Mr. Harris hopes that in this manner he will be able to give the farmers, and all others, access to the valuable statistics collected by this bureau. Heretofore the reports have been given by the bureau of the census to newspaper representatives and to the different telegraph companies for distribution. Following this distribution copies of the reports have been mailed to the ginners, manufacturers and warehouse men, but there has been no practical method devised for the distribution of the information directly to the farmers. It is Mr. Harris's purpose to give the statistics to the farmers so they can take advantage of the information collected by the federal government."

that Anna Aumuller told her Schmidt wanted to marry her.

"We will get married," Schmidt told the Aumuller girl, according to Miss Hert, "and go to some far-off country, and I will hang my cassock on a high hook."

By that, Miss Hert said, Schmidt meant he would leave the priesthood. The witness knew of Schmidt's relations with the Aumuller girl. Once Anna Aumuller had asked her if she would be godmother to the child Anna was expecting.

"I told her maybe," the witness said. "I never met Schmidt, but Anna used to tell me about him. She called him 'the Baron.'"

Schmidt told the police in his confession that he married Anna Aumuller, acting as both bridegroom and priest. The witness knew nothing of this co-called ceremony.

UNION PRINTERS HOME PICTURE AT LOEB-LIEPOLD'S.

Have you noticed the large picture in the window of Loeb-Liepold's clothing store on Indiana? It is a late photograph of the Union Printers Home at Colorado Springs, Colo. This Home represents an expenditure of an even million dollars and is erected and maintained by members of the International Typographical Union. It is the only institution of its kind in the world. It is inspected annually by many visitors—more than twenty thousand visiting the Home during the summer months of 1913. At this Home old and indisposed members of the International Tyopographical Union are cared for by the most skilled and learned attendants that can be obtained. By a regular monthly assessment of each active member this Home is maintained. The International Tyopgraphical Union has seven hundred subordinate unions throughout the United States, Canada, Cuba, the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippine Islands and Porto Rico. It has over 60,000 members. It pays to those who have reached the age of 60 years and been members for twenty years or more, and who are unable to earn a living at the trade a pension of $5 per week.

The Union Printers Home is situated on eighty acres of land donated by the citizens of Colorado Springs and this land is rapidly increasing in value. M. E. Hay, governor of the State of Washington, after inspecting the Home this summer said: "I am especially interested in the explanation of the real character of the Home and splendid work the union printers are doing for their superannuated and disabled members. If I were a printer I would be a union printer and a member of the International Typographical Union."

The picture has been placed there by the members of the local union and is the property of members of The Times composing room.

CHICAGO'S BREAD LINE WILL BE ABOLISHED.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Chicago's bread line will be abolished with the new year. A hotel where real beds can be had for five cents a night and where meals will be furnished at from one to five cents each will supplant the bread line on January 1.

Charles G. Dawes, former comptroller of the currency, who has been host to the unfortunates in the bread line, is the founder of the hotel, which will bear the name "The Rufus Dawes Memorial." It will represent a father's memorial to a dead son. Connected with the hotel will be free baths and a free employment agency.

A large flag, similar to the one raised during the battle of Lake Erie by Commodore Perry and bearing the words, "Don't give up the ship," will adorn the lobby of the hotel.

A Week Day Sermon

SMOKE THIS IN YOUR PIPE

OUR SUBJECT
The Square Deal in the Clothing Business.

OUR TEXT
Honesty is the Best Policy.

Light your pipe and read and think this over and you will get some of the reasons for our having been in the clothing business for the last fifteen years.

You serve your own selfish interests best when you render service. Greed always over reaches itself. It steps on its front foot with the hind and takes a tumble.

The merchant who works for profit only and doesn't get some pleasure out of the game is a failure.

We make a profit but we also like the clothing business, and we treat you fair because it pays.

We take pride in seeing our customers look genteel and many of them have come back and said that our clothing is all that we claim it to be.

Others haven't said any thing when they come back but the simple fact that they have come back speaks for itself.

Before buying clothes ask one of our customers what to expect at Riggs. They'll hand it to you straight and the most of them, too, are men who are accustomed to wearing the best and therefore know good clothes when they see them.

Our hand tailored clothing made by the best tailors in the land satisfies the most exacting and they cost you half and less than half the tailor's price.

ONE NEGRESS SHOT AND ANOTHER IS ARRESTED

A young negress known as "Mary Jane" was shot four times and probably fatally wounded this afternoon by Beatrice Allen, another negress. The shooting took place in a house in the flats owned by Sarah Garner. Five shots from a 45-calibre revolver were fired. Three of these took effect in the shoulders and chest of the negress and it was believed she could not live more than a few hours.

Before the shooting the negress known as "Mary Jane" accosted the other negroes asking them if they had seen Beatrice Allen. She is said to have followed Beatrice into the room where she shooting took place vowing that she would kill her. The firing started immediately thereafter Constable Will Bryan of Burkburnett, who was in the flats serving some warrants heard the shots and ran to the scene reaching the house just as Beatrice with the revolver in her hand stepped through the doorway. He seized her and took away the revolver and took her to jail.

Her victim was found groaning on the floor behind a dresser in the room where she had ran supposedly after the first shots.

WICHITAN'S BROTHER VICTIM OF SHOOTING AT CALDWELL.

Jake Hudson, conductor on the Wichita Valley, has returned from Temple, Texas, where he has been to attend the funeral of his brother, J. W. Hudson who was shot at Caldwell on December 1, dying from the effects of the wound on December 3. The funeral was at Cleburne. The deceased was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Nell Sutherland Lodge No. 206. He was killed by Nelson Houston, a stockman after he had ejected the latter from his train because of lack of transportation. Houston is now in jail at Belton.

The shooting was done with a double barreled shot gun, one charge taking effect in the back of the head, the other in the small of the back. The Santa Fe provided a special train to convey the wounded man to the company hospital at Temple and newspaper accounts declare that the special made the seventy miles in an hour and forty minutes.

Under the Texas laws, the deceased who was a brakeman, was forced to put Houston off or render himself suoject to a fine and imprisonment and that he should meet his death in doing his duty to the letter is considered particularly unfortunate. Jake Hudson, his brother, resides at 1104 Lamar street in this city.

THE JUDGMENT OF THE WORLD

Some one has said, "Show me the graves of the dead and I will judge the living"

Humanity in most things judge their fellow beings too harshly, but when we visit the graves our thoughts are softened, and rarely ever expressed although we read as upon an open scroll the facts concerning the living relatives.

Some are beautifully kept, telling of LOVE, DEVOTION, SUCCESS Some are NEGLECTED, FORGOTTEN, FORSAKEN. 'Friends are dead gone-away failures," and many other things that go to make up the great human concourse We don t have to be informed, . is there before us

You believe in beautifying the graves of the dead You c rish the memory of their lives in your heart Why not express it in EVERLASTING TERMS.

WE KNOW HOW.

THE MAN WHO KNEW SANTA CLAUS BEST

VISIT FROM ST. NICHOLAS

'Twas the night before Christmas when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that Saint Nicholas soon would be there.
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugarplums danced through their heads;
And Mama in her kerchief and I in my cap
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap;
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I fled like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash;
The moon on the breast of the new fallen snow
Gave the lustre of mid-day to objects below,
When what to my wondering eyes should appear
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver so lively and quick
I knew in a moment it must be Saint Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled and shouted and called them by name.
"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer! and Vixen!
On, Comet! on, Cupid! on, Donder and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch! To the top of the wall!
Now dash away! dash away! dash away, all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly
When they meet with an obstacle mount to the sky,
So up to the housetop the coursers they flew,
With the sleigh full of toys and Saint Nicholas too.
And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof—
As I drew in my head and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in furs from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot.
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack;
His eyes—how they twinkled! His dimples, how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry!
His droll little mouth was drawn up in a bow,
And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow;
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath;
He had a broad face, and a little round belly
That shook when he laughed like a bowlful of jelly.
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself.
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work
And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose.
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle;
But I heard him exclaim ere he drove out of sight,
"Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good night."

"OFFICER 666" AT THE WICHITA THEATRE TONIGHT

"Officer 666," when it appeared in New York and Chicago, was accorded the most flattering expressions of approval by both the press and public it lived up to the prediction of its censors by recording the longest runs ever registered in either cities named for a play of its class, and now that we are to see the famous policeman at the Wichita Theatre tonight interest in the piece has been further aroused. The most irresistible peeler that ever swung a night stick, in a better detective play than ever came out of France, is Officer 666," a play that has scored the most definite success both in New York and Chicago recorded on the theatrical record for years

Everyone to whom the show world appeals will want to see this splendid play which is a sort of prophylactic, good in a dramatic way for that tired feeling

'Officer 666" is a melodramatic farcial stage film with a word plot of laughs and thrills that is shot out with a rapidity of a Hotchkiss field piece storming an enemy's entrenchment And the audience that it attracts' My goodness, how they do enjoy it! The stout one chortle over the swift fun or gasp at the trill punctuations. The matinee girls are intensely interested in the handsome picture pilferer, who, they hope will get away with the swag, and when that prince of scamps is finally caught, vote him the dearest villain that ever had his thumb prints photographed

GOOD LOOKING GIRLS I N "THE PRINCE OF TONIGHT"

Full of pleasing melodies, and offering an amazingly lavish production, "The Prince of Tonight,' enhanced by the prestige afforded by the presence in the title role of Tom Arnold should live up to its record as a phenominal magnet for the playgoer when it appears here at the Wichita Theatre December 27

The large cast of principals in support of Mr Arnold, evidence the choice of the best to be had in the musical comedy field, and the chorus is a typical beauty gathering of girls, who can sing and dance and make the audience wonder if the producer cornered all the pretty girls in the country As the Prince of the mythical land of Lunitania where he succeeds in winning the girl or his heart Mr Arnold presents the portrayal with all the mischievous twinkles, apt witticisms and bubbling good nature that won him so strong a regard in the hearts of theatre-goers.

ANTI-HOME RULE ARMY ORGANIZED

ULSTER VOLUNTEER FORCE GOES CALMLY ON GETTING READY FOR BATTLE

NO CLASS DISTINCTIONS

Makes No Recommendations as to Proposed Changes in Sherman Law By Congress

London, Dce 11—The most democratic army in the world' It may be a slight exaggeration, but there appears to be at least tangible basis for this proud boast, made by the Home Ruler resister of the North of Ireland on behalf of the Ulster Volunteer Force (By Ed L Keen)

Information reaching the United Press from various section of the disaffected province indicates that class distinction, which hitherto have always been exceptionally marked in Ireland, have been all but obliterated in the organization and military instruction of the 88,000 men who are pledged to fight to the death against the enforcement of the proposed Dublin parliament

Merchants and manufacturers, farmers and day laborers, lawyers and doctors, preachers and parishioners are to be found serving side by side in the ranks In many instances employes have been set over employers in command of companies tenants drill landlords and sextons issue orders to their vicars Among the 300 officers and section leaders of the County Tyrone division who attended the first camp of instruction held on the Baron court estate of the Duke of Abercorn there were 155 farmers, 31 day-laborers, 10 manufacturers, seven clergymen (four of the Church of Ireland and three Presbyterian) five merchants, five clerks, five carpenters, four engineers, three tailors, and three chauffeurs, while the rest represented a score of other professions and occupations

How Forcers are Organized

The Tyrone Volunteers are typical of the rest of Ulster, both in personnel and system of organization, although the number of recruits is not so large as in some of the other counties, Tyrone's population being about equally divided between Unionists and Nationalists. The total enrollment in the Tyrone is 6,000 organized into five battalions and distributed among 88 drill centers Each center elects its own section leader by ballot, and the section leaders choose the section officers who in turn elect the battalion commanders During their visit with the Duke of Abercorn, who is colonel of the regiment the Tyrone officers and section leaders received general drill and rifle instruction from commissioned and non commissioned officers of the regular British army both active and retired under the direction of Lieut Gen Sir George Richardson, commander in chief of the Ulster Volunteer Force and who is still on the active list of his Majesty's army

The drilling and target work was done quite openly The Duke however, had taken the precaution to get from a couple of the local justices of the peace a formal permit for the use of his rifle range for this purpose, so that the encampment could not be prescribed as an illegal assemblage The justices, needless to say are anti Home Rulers

The Duke's guests have now dispersed to their homes, prepared to whip the recruits into shape during the winter months Similar camps of instruction are to be conducted throughout all of the Ulster provinces

Meantime, while training their army the Ulster leaders continue to work secretly importing and distributing arms and ammunition They claim now to have sufficient numbers of modern rifles to supply nearly all of the force thus far recruited and expect soon to have 100,000

On last week 3,000 rifles were received in Belfast in the guise of hardware and were taken to secret destinations within an hour of their arrival

Is His Majesty Broke?

English folk are beginning to wonder whether their King and Queen are getting hard up, and if so why

News comes from Eton, where young Prince Henry is attending school, that his weekly allowance of spending money was recently cut from $1 50 to $1 25 One explanation is that, instead of indicating parsimony on the part of his royal parents, this step was taken as a measure of discipline.

The story is that Henry had been detected selling his father's and mother's letters to autograph hunters among his fellow students No such reasonable excuse however has yet been advanced for the Queen's action in having nine of her old evening gowns cut down for Princess Mary, and the intimation conveyed on behalf of her Majesty that she would expect the dressmaker in presenting her bill to take into consideration the wholesale character of the order

A CHRISTMAS STORY

I SPENT a happy Christmas eve
At blithesome Ennedale,
And sitting by the cozy hearth,
I listened to this tale.

Old Thomas told it — he had seen
Some seventy years or so,
And over many lands had been
A roamer to and fro.

"When I was but a boy," he said,
'There dwelt not far from here
A woman young in widowhood—
Her name was Helen Vere

"One child she had—a little boy—
I scarcely need to say
He was her only earthly joy,
Her comfort night and day.

"Oft would she stroke his golden hair
And sigh, and say 'Ah, me
Oh, weary, weary was the day
Thy father went to sea!'

"One day he to his mother said—
'I long so much to be
A sailor as my father was,
And sail the wide wide sea.'

"She gave consent, although her heart
Was bound up in her son,—
'It may be better for us both—
O Lord, Thy will be done

You won't forgot me, my dear boy,
When far away, I know,
So with my blessing and my prayers,
Go, my own Willie go'

"Ten long, long years thenrolled away,
And sorely Helen pined,
No letter from her son had come,
No news of any kind"

Here Thomas poked the fire, and made
The flames leap high and clear—
"Now I must shift the scene,' he said,
"And tell of Willie Vere

'When Willie left his mother's home
He shipped on board the 'Tyne,'
And all went happily and well
Until they crossed the line.

"Then on them burst a furious storm
That fiercer grew each day,
Until upon a lonely isle
The ship was cast away.

"And when the raging storm drew off
Its work of havoc done
Of all the crew but one survived,
And Willie was that one

"For two long years he strained his gaze
Across the wide wide wave
But never came a friendly ship
To succor or to save.

'For two long years his only food
Was shell fish from the shore,
And sea birds' eggs, and leaves, and fruit
The feathery palm trees bore

"The long third year drew near its close,
And it was Christmas Day,
Poor Willie sat upon the shore—
His thoughts were far away

"A hand is on his shoulder laid,
A loud voice greets his ear—
'What, mate! who would have thought to find
A human being here?

"'Don't cry, my man, but come on board,
Belay your thanks and fuss
We're sailing for a land of gold,
'So come along with us"

Here Thomas poked the fire and said
"Again shift time and scene—
'Tis Christmas Eve at Ennerdale,
The wind blows wild and keen

"Poor Helen crouches o'er the fire
And shudders at the storm,
The latch is lifted at the door
There stands a manly form

"'I've been a wanderer,' spoke the man,
'On many a far off shore,
I've traveled twenty thousand miles
To look on home once more.

"She rose up slowly from her chair,
Her lips no words expressed,
She flung her arms around his neck
And swooned upon his breast"

Here Thomas poked the fire, and turned
His face to hide the tears
That filled his eyes, whene'er he told
The story of the Veres.

And then he said with trembling voice—
'No words can tell the joy
Of Helen when she looked again
Upon her long lost boy.

"They left the poor and humble cot
That had such sorrows seen,
And dwelt together in one home
Down by old Hazeldean

"Old William Vere, whom I knew well,
Has often said to me—
"Whene'er I read my mother's gift
I took with me to sea,

"'I feel I never can forget,
That pious mother's love,
Or ever cease to render thanks
To God the Lord above."

LITTLE CHOIR SISTER

HEY called her the Choir Sister, because she was the daughter of the Choir Mother. Children have mothers to mend their clothes and see that their faces and hands are clean before they march into church. The Choir Mother was the wife of the janitor of the church where the choir sang, and so kind was she that all the boys loved her

It was easy to like the Choir Sister, too, because she played ball with the boys before rehearsals And those nights when the Choir Master let them invite their friends in for games she was the girl most of them wanted for a partner

So anyone can see why the boys were blue when Ricky Jackson, her brother came into the choir room Christmas eve and said·

"Mil" (short for Mildred, her real name) 'isn't going to have any Christmas''

The boys stopped right there, some with their choir clothes only half on If they didn't find out right away what was the matter with the Choir Sister, the Christmas eve service would have to go without their singing.

So Ricky told how she had come down that morning with a funny tired feeling, and sniffling and hot cheeks, and had to stay in bed, and how she cried when she thought of the tree she was going to miss

You can see why that Christmas eve service was not as happy as it should have been for these boys Afterward, when the tree was lighted with the starlike candles and the Sunday school room was filled with boys and girls opening their presents, each choir boy was thinking of the Choir Sister lying there at home, wishing she could be with them.

Next day people in church thought the boys sang the Christmas hymns better than ever But the people did not know that just before the boys marched in the Choir Master had told them a plan by which the Choir Sister would have a Christmas she would never forget.

At evening the janitor's doorbell rang The Choir Mother opened it, and in came the Choir Master and a lot of boys with red cheeks and smiling faces. Back of the others four of the biggest boys dragged through the door a small Christmas tree.

They set the tree up in the parlor Everyone was still for they didn't want the Choir Sister to know any thing about it till it was all ready Soon the candles were in place, and the trimmings, and they lit the candles, and each boy placed a package under the tree and then a wonderful thing happened!

The door opened and the Choir Mother and the Choir Master walked in, carrying between them a little stretcher, and upon that lay the Choir Sister

You should have seen her face! You could almost see the light of the candles sparkling in it, so happy was she! The boys held their breath, wondering what she would say Her little cheeks glowed as she sat up straight and held her arms out toward the tree. And her eyes sparkled as she cried

Oh! my Christmas tree!"

Then she turned to the boys, and said

Oh! My Dear Choir Brothers!"

Then she cried a little, just because she was happy, and some of the boys sniffled a bit, just because she was crying Then there was all the jolly fun that goes with a tree.

But soon they took her away. She was so tired that she fell asleep right after they put her back in bed She dreamed that she saw a flock of sheep with their shepherds on a great plain Suddenly there was a great light from above and she seemed to hear angels singing.

She awoke. The singing did not stop. She arose and opened the window

There, in the moonlight under her window stood her Choir Brothers with lighted candles, like the Christmas carol singers of Old England They were singing this hymn·

"Hark! the Herald Angels sing"

When the verse was finished the Choir Sister leaned out and called down to them·

"Brothers, you have made me love God a whole lot more A merry Christmas to you all!"

'And to you!" they echoed.

As the Choir Sister crept back to bed she heard the voices of the boys die away in the distance Then a chime of bells somewhere out in the great snow-white world rang out the very hymn the boys had been singing and the Choir Sister fell asleep.

A Christmas Motto.

The more we know, the better we forgive;
Whoe'er feels deeply, feels for all who live.

CHAIR OF HISTORY OF MUSIC RECENTLY ADDED AT STATE UNIVERSITY

FOOTBALL IN THE WINTER

Many Believe Southern Season Now Ends too Soon—Other Notes Around Austin

(By R Bedichek)

Austin, Texas, Dec 11—Is it not, perhaps, as an antidote to football, and presumably upon the theory that music hath power to soothe the savage breast, that a professor of music has been employed in the University of Texas? At any rate the football season having closed with Thanksgiving, Professor Frank LeFavre Reed has appeared promptly in the offing from Meadville, Pa, and is arranging courses in the history of music, type of composers, and certain advanced courses in harmony counterpoint composition Thus, as the raucous football yells die away, arrives this trained marshaller of sounds whose function is to alchemize noise into harmony

He's got a job As professor of music in Pennsylvania College he made an enviable reputation He is a member of the American Society of musicians, is a fluent lecturer, and Texas music lovers welcome him as much needed acquisition It is comforting, also, to reflect that this professor of music is a native American, and spells his name R, double e, d It doesn't end in ski, or vitch, or elli, or disturb the atmosphere when pronounced with a Latin, Slavonic or Teutonic twang It does not suggest bushey hair mopped up in front like a chrysanthemum, a wild or febrile eye, eccentric carriage, or a brogue that you can hang your hat on He's just a plain American with an American name, wears a sack coat, and talks about music as sensibly, though inspringly, as Col Exall talkes about planting peas to build up the soil

There's another Amberican with an American name lately come to Texas from Virginia, who is also a musician of note, and who will have charge of the music in St Davids Church, Austin Ben F Potter is his name He is a Fellow of the Guild of St Cecilia, Fellow of the Church Orgainsts Society, asociate of the Royal College of Organists (all of London) and professional pupil of Alberto Rambegger He was director last year of the largest volunteer choir in the South, and also of the Wednesday Club, the leading musical organization of Virginia These two musical acquisitions ought to satisfy Texas music lovers for a while, they should cease now to interrupt with their clamor about the neglect of the Supreme Art, when ordinary people are seriously discussing the comparative merits of the Berkshire and Duroc Jersey The world really must be fed in order for it to be able to enjoy music

Reverting to football, a dead issue until next September, some seven thousand people saw the Texas eleven battered to pieces Thanksgiving by the superb team from Notre Dame Those of the seven thousand really know this manly sport realized that it was the superior endurance of the northern boys that gave them the victory Texas played the Catholics to a standstill during the first half, but softened to the consistency of dough in the second Texas and southern teams, generally don't get in their training during football weather The game originated in a cold climate and is played naturally in the crisp fall of the northern year Transplanted in the south, it is played during the same months when weather conditions here are insufferable A team simply can't play hard enough during the months of September and October in Texas to toughen it for the terrible competition of the northern players The southern season, in the opinion of many of the fans, should begin not earlier than the middle of October and should close a week or two before Christmas A chance for light, preliminary practice would thus be afforded in September, and the Thanksgiving game would fall in the heighth of the season, allowing one date for battles betwen northern teams The heavy southern games should all be dated between Thanksgiving and a week or two before Christmas

The talking moving pictures came to a sudden silence a short time ago in Beaumont when they ran afoul of H A. Wroe of Austin, receiver for the General Film Company It seems that these Edison talking-movies were entertaining the public without contributing a royalty to the General Film Co receivership, which, according to the mandate of the court, they should have done It was to straighten out the tangle resulting that Mr Wroe called last week at the great Edison factory in Orange, N. J While W Maxwell, general manager for Mr Edison waits upon the ordinary run of visitors, in Mr Wroes case, Mr. Edison himself emerged from his laboratory to greet 'a man from Texas"

"He was very plainly dressed" said Mr Wroe, in speaking of his interview with the Wizard. "He is 67 years old and looks it His manner is at once genial and dignified He is as practical as a banker when it comes to making a trade He expressed great interest in Texas, and said he hoped to visit the great Southwestern commonwealth before long Curiously enough, he showed a surprising knowledge of business, social and industrial conditions in Texas"

Their business deal was arranged in about ten minutes, and the Edison moving talkies will resume in Texas at once Manager Maxwell, while lunching with Mr. Wroe at the country club later, stated that Mr Edison always manifested the keenest interest in anything pertaining to Texas.

UNITED STATES IS READY FOR ANY EMERGENCY.

Washington, Dec 11.—The placing of the scout cruiser Chester and the gunboat Wheeling at Tampico was intended to meet just such an emergency as a rebel attack on the city. The Chester and Wheeling, ships of light draft, with the Tacoma and the supply ship Culgoa, also at Tampico, can approach near enough to the city to take off Americans and other foreigners who may be endangered, while the battleships Rhode Island and Michigan are obliged, because of their great displacement, to lay seven and eight miles out to sea.

Officials feel that the American ships now there are sufficient to afford adequate refuge in case of fighting. Rear Admiral Fletcher, aboard the Rhode Island, is in command of the situation His last report stated he received assurances from the constitutionalist generals that they would respect foreign property, which consists principally of oil tanks and pipe lines, mostly British and American owned.

"PUBLIC HEALTH, PUBLIC UTILITY"

SECRETARY OF WAR GARRISON SUBMITS FIRST ANNUAL REPORT TO PRESIDENT

HAVE TO PAY THE PRICE

Fails to Make Recommendations for Rearrangement—Wants Change in Enlisement Contract Plan

By Associated Press

New York Dec 11—Public health is a public utility A dollar laid out in sanitation is not an expenditure but a loan which will be returned an hundred fold declared Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the United States Public Health Service here today in an address before the Assocation of Life Insurance Presidents

Any municipality state or nation can have public health if it will but pay the price continued the Surgeon General The most needed reforms in public health administrations are greater co-operation between public officials the employment of full time workers, establishment of laboratories accurate collection of vital statistics and the seting aside of sufficient funds to accompuish those things

The future of sanitary administration in this country depends upon the interest which the citizens take in its development There is no better index of the state of civilization of a community than the manner in which it approaches its public health problems There is still much room for reform in the sanitary administration of many states and municipalities in our country and not the least important duty devolving upon the health officials of this Nation is the education of general public to that end that sanitary reforms will not only be accepted by will also be earnestly sought for

Indifference of Public

Our slow progress in the direction of a perfect national health is due to the fact that the people have not as yet fully realized its importance and have not demanded that protection against preventable disease which they have a right to expect from their administrative officials Neither have they demanded legislation and appropriations which are essential to the successful prosecution of public health work There are two main causes for the paucity of sanitary legislation public indifference and economic opposition

The feverish energy in sanitary matters which characterizes the general public in time of epidemic soon gives way to lethargy and indifference to public health matters The average individual is willing to take a chance of contracting a disease when it seems a long way off and it is only when it is close upon him and in spectacular form that he appreciates its danger A single case of leprosy in a city will create widespread excitement while a thousand cases of measles which in their final results are infinitely more dangerous are permitted to occur with out remark

Results of the past decade of sanitary activity have been to prove that the prolongation of life is entirely practicable and this prolongation has ben largely brought about by improvement in sanitary administration The time is not long since passed when the public health official who boldly pointed out the neds for sanitary improvement in the factories of a wealthy corporation endangered his position Today such criticisms are gladly received and promptly acted upon The efficiency of human machinery is quite as important as the efficiency of the other machinery of the factories and the realization of this fact has resulted in an extension of the powers and duties of the public health authorities

Methods of the Past

"The crudity of method and apparatus of bygone days was only equalled by the administrative inefficiency of that time To cite concrete examples the mattles of Cressy and Agincourt were won through the efforts of individual commanders supported by free companies having but a faint relation to the army as a whole The greatest battle of modern times fought between the Japanese and Russians at Mukden was on the contrary carried by the victors only through the concerted and integrating efforts of a vast fighting machine the various arms of which occupied miles of territory yet operated with a deadly accuracy in which each and every part of the army discharged its duties without endeavoring for individual brilliancy and with the single aim of interlocking efficiency without loss of power or time

"The sanitary machine of this country is a vast organization reaching from the White House to the humblest cottage in the United States The day has passed when by individual brilliancy a battle against disease foes may be won without regard to the engagements which are going on all about us We live in an age in which efficiency is the slogan We have learned from oft repeated failure and sore disappointment that in sanitary work as in all the accomplished in the shortest space of time and with a minimum expenditure of funds and labor by a concentrated co-operative effort

"The most needed reform in the administration of all the various parts of the public health arm of the Nation is an active and generous co-operation one with the other The Public Health Service cannot succeed in the fullest extent if it is not assisted by the state and local health authorities The state departments of health cannot discharge their duties with greatest profit without the help of the county and municipal boards of health and all of them to succeed in the broadest way must co-operate one with the other and all as a whole

Vital Statistics Needed

"The form which this co-operation should take is capable of endless variation and untold multiplicity, but the first and one of the most important single factors is in the collection of vital statistics The registration area for deaths at present occupies only about two thirds of our country An endeavor is being made to establish registration area for morbidity and this form in public health administration

"It is the grat glory of the period in which we live that we have recognized our responsibility as our brothers keeper That public official who brings physicald salvation to his fellow man has gone a long way toward the promotion of the moral welfare and general happiness of the community The worker in the field of sanitation does more for the moral uplift of the nation than any other ocial agency

"Most of the states and many of the municipalities grant adequate public health authority, to their officials Practically all are willing to do so if the matter is placed before them in its true light The great difficulty however, lies in the securing of appropriations It must be said that the education of the general public with regard to matters sanitary has not yet brought about a full realization of the interchangeability of public health and public wealth"
